previous attempts to critique the canonical approach of brevard child's have remained largely theoretical in nature one of the weaknesses of canonical criticism then is its failure to have generated new readings of extended biblical passages reviewing the hermeneutics and the praxis of child's approach lyons then turns to the sodom narrative gen 18 19 as a test of a practical exegesis according to child's principles and then to reflect critically upon the reading experience generated surprisingly the canonical reading produced is a wholly new one centred around the complex irreducible even contradictory request of abraham for yahweh to do justice 18 23 25
